Strong Industrial Market

The City of Strongsville, Ohio is home to over 45,000 residents and sits in the Southwest Cleveland Industrial Submarket. The submarket boasts over 38 million square feet of industrial space, largely oriented for light to heavy manufacturing uses. In recent years, the submarket, and the Strongsville Business & Technology

Park in particular, has seen increased attention from speculative development as well as consistent build-to-suit construction. Occupiers find the area desirable due to its easy access to I-71, providing a conduit north to Cleveland-Hopkins Airport, and south to the turnpike and the rapidly growing state capital, Columbus.
