City Creates Safe Zones for Bees, Insects

Signs are going up around town marking Pollinator Habitats – places the city is creating where bees and butterflies can thrive.

The areas will be around the perimeters of the parks, adjacent to woods, where they won't impact players on the fields.

Pollinators are crucial to the world's food supply and natural ecosystems.

A riparian corridor will also be established along the stream that runs through the Drake Road Rec Park. Plantings will help stabilize the banks.

Residents: Beware the 'Distraction' Burglary

Police urge residents to be aware of a type of burglary that happens while you're at home — often while you're in the next room or just outside the door.

In a distraction burglary, someone typically comes to your door claiming to be a contractor or offering to perform a service at your home. The visitor tries to lure you outside to look at an alleged problem, or asks to come inside. Meanwhile, an accomplice is slipping unnoticed into another part of your house and grabbing valuables.

In one case, a young woman came to a resident's home and, claiming she was moving in next door, asked to see the view of her new back yard from the resident's window.

Police say you should always make sure someone at your door has a solicitor's permit issued by the city of Strongsville, and should be wary if a stranger engages you in conversation while you're working in the yard.

Shred Day will be June 18

The popular Shred Day is set for 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Friday, June 18 in the Ehrnfelt Rec Center parking lot, 18100 Royalton Road.

Residents can bring their documents to be shredded free of charge.
